

Medical Biography

Dr. Jesús Alfonso Romero Mera - Neurology.

Dr. Jesús Alfonso Romero Mera is a physician born in Mexico City. His initial medical training began in the colonial city of Querétaro, Mexico, and he completed his undergraduate internship in Santiago, Chile. He later worked in the care of patients with chronic kidney disease for 4 years. He continued his training as an internist and later as a neurologist at the “Centro Médico Nacional 20 de Noviembre” in Mexico City, hospital belonging to the UNAM. During his stay, he developed a great interest in topics related to cerebrovascular disease, neuroinfectology, neuropsychiatry and autonomic diseases, which was reflected in his collaboration on scientific work and clinical rotations at the most important medical centers in Mexico and the United States. He will currently begin the Fellowship in Amyloidosis as part of the International Society of Amyloidosis, contributing to the care and neurological research of patients who cross paths with this important clinical entity.
